The city of Waveland will ring in the New Year with a new mayor and two new aldermen after Tuesday’s general election.

In the mayoral race, Jay Trapani won with 1,030 votes. His opponent Micah Tinkler received 212 votes and opponent Brice Phillips received 52 votes.

Trapani said he was happy with his win and the turnout.

“I can’t believe the number of votes that I got in,” he said. “I got a lot of support from a lot of residents. Just looking forward to getting started. Like I’ve always said, let’s just bring the city back to pre-Katrina status, that’s what we want to do.”

With 324 votes, Rhonda Aime-Gamble won the Ward 1 Alderman seat. Her opponent Cheryl Crosby Tenney received 173 votes and opponent Mathew Adams received 44 votes.

Aime-Gamble said she was grateful that “we were

The 2022 Christmas parades have begun, with the Christmas in the Bay parade and the Kiln Fire Truck and Horse parades rolling in the Kiln this past weekend, and the Diamondhead, Waveland, Fenton and Bayside parades ahead.

“This is a tremendous turn-out,” Bay Mayor Mike Favre said Friday evening during the Christmas in the Bay parade. “We sure appreciate all the people coming out to support us.”

After the parade, Santa climbed down off a Bay St. Louis fire truck to meet with dozens of admiring children.

Grant recipients praise Coast Electric’s Operation Round Up

BY GEOFF BELCHER
GENERAL MANAGER

Coast Electric Power Association last week celebrated a major milestone, hosting a meeting at its Kiln headquarters with the beneficiaries of hundreds of thousands of dollars in grants from its Operation Round Up program.
“Since Coast Electric

began rounding up participating members’ bills in December of 2018, more than $1 million has been invested into our community in the form of grants for charitable organizations that make our community a better place to live,” Director of Communications April Lollar said in a press release. “Besides reaching more than $1 million in total grants, the Community Trust Committee also reviewed 46 grant applications and approved 26 of these for a total of $227,102 for this round of grants alone.”

Coast Electric Director of Community Development, Janell Nolan, began Wednesday’s ceremony by welcoming the dozens of community volunteers.

“Thank you so much for your commitment to everyone and the services you provide,” she said.
Mike Crawford, founder and director of MS Gulf Coast Buddy Sports, praised Coast Electric and Operation Round Up for helping make his organization’s mission possible, providing sports and leisure activities available for children and adults with special needs.

Operation Round Up helps fund programs like Buddy Ball, Fishing With Buddies and other leisure activities, Crawford said, “basically, anything that you or your family members would like to do, we try to support that” for special-needs people.

“We’ve been very blessed they have sponsored our programs, because we couldn’t do it without their support,” Crawford said.

SHOP WITH A COP: First-responders reach out to local children

The Waveland Community Unity Organization on Saturday hosted its second annual Shop With a Cop program. Police and fire and other first-responders went shopping with 10 different families to help them have a better Christmas.

BY GEOFF BELCHER
GENERAL MANAGER

Police and fire departments and other first-responders reached out to local children this past Saturday for the Waveland Community Unity Organization’s second annual “Shop With a Cop” program.

“We had the Mississippi Highway Patrol, Department of Marine Resources, Waveland Police Department, Waveland Fire Department, Bay Police Department, Bay Fire Department and the Pass Christian Police Department,” WCUO President Clarence “Zeke” Hall said.

For the event, the public servants took children from 10 different families shopping at the Waveland Walmart. Each child had a specific dollar amount he or she could spend to pick out what they wanted for Christmas.

Hall said the program is a great way to spread Christmas cheer and help deserving families enjoy an experience they might not otherwise have.

“It really touched me,” Hall said. “We had a 16-year-old, he went and bought Christmas dinner for his family — he took his money and bought a ham, he didn’t even buy any toys.”

Hall thanked the families, the first-responders and the program’s sponsors.

“I really want to thank Da Kitchen, Warran Automotive, Moss Towing, Smoke & Ale and Cleaning by Renee,” he said. “They give so much back to the community.”

Flag Retirement Program

Edmond Fahey Funeral Home works with local residents and the veterans services organizations to properly retire any U.S. flag that has reached the end of its service. Our program is designed to honor our national heroes, our military veterans, and to give dignity to our American Flag when it is no longer worthy of display. We strive to see that each veteran being cremated has a flag. There is no charge for this service to our veterans.

According to the United States code, Title 4, Chapter 1, Subsection 8: "The flag, when it is in such condition that it is no longer a fitting emblem for display, should be destroyed in a dignified way, preferably by burning."

If you would like to honor a deceased veteran by donating an aged or worn flag to be properly disposed of, you may do so by delivering the flags to our funeral home located on the corner of Necaise Avenue and Main Street.

"We pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

NASA’s Orion Splashdown Symbolizes Great Achievement and Bright Future

Splashdown and recovery of NASA’s uncrewed Orion spacecraft in the Pacific Ocean on Dec. 11 concluded a successful Artemis I maiden mission and set the stage for the agency to move ahead in its effort to explore the secrets of the universe for the benefit of all.

Orion’s successful re-entry from space and splashdown off the coast of California was shared by so many who contributed to Artemis I and puts the nation on track for human deep space missions to come. The Artemis I test flight is the first in a series of increasingly complex missions paving the way for humans to return to the Moon and eventually travel to Mars.

The return of Orion was particularly momentous for everyone at NASA’s Stennis Space Center near Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, and even more so for one of our own employees on the recovery ship to operate a camera system tracking the capsule from re-entry all the way to splashdown. Just as companies across the nation worked together to make the Artemis I mission possible, the diverse and inclusive team at Stennis pulled together to test the propulsion systems and engines that helped launch the first mission of the Artemis generation.

Indeed, as the nation’s largest propulsion test center, NASA Stennis has a long history of frontline work to help power the U.S. human space exploration program.

The site initially was built to test rocket stages that launched the first humans to the Moon in 1969 during the Apollo Program. In like fashion, the center tested the RS-25 engines and Space Launch System (SLS) core stage that sent the Orion spacecraft on its recent trip around the Moon.

SLS is the most powerful rocket ever assembled and the only one capable of sending Orion, astronauts, and cargo directly to the Moon on a single

Hancock History: Turtle Soup

The seafood industry has played an important role in the history of the economy of Hancock County. Shrimp, crabs, and oysters that have been harvested by our local fishermen for two hundred years are favorite items on restaurant menus along the coast. Likewise, turtle soup is embraced in Creole and Asian cuisine. The meat of the turtle is considered seafood, and turtle soup is an appetizer in fancy restaurants such as Galatoire’s and Arnaud’s in the French Quarter in New Orleans.

In 1917, an entrepreneur named Harry Joseph Thurston (1881-1920) established the Thurston Canning Company in Cedar Point, adjacent to the Peerless Shrimp and Oyster Plant. These plants were located on the peninsula that presently is the home of the Bay Waveland Yacht Club. The turtles Thurston used were imported from Mexico and Central America. These turtles were enormous, weighing from three hundred to six hundred pounds. They were shipped to the port of New Orleans and then transported live on flat bed railway cars, strapped down on their backs. The live turtles were kept in a water pen until used to produce the soup in the cooking area of the canning factory.

Thurston advertised his Green Turtle Soup in newspapers all over the South. His ads boasted that his soup “contained all the vital food elements so beneficial to the human system. It is not meat, just turtle plus eleven different kinds of vegetables.” Today this appetizer in Creole kitchens is often prepared as a stew-like soup made with a roux. The roux is prepared by south-

The Lore of Railroads Past

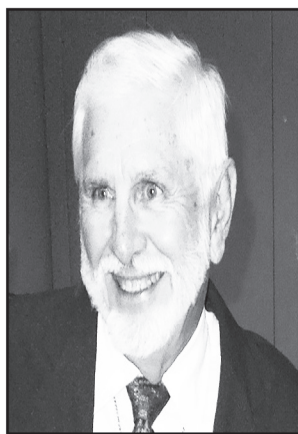

My interest in railroads was rekindled by recent Sea Coast Echo articles noting the potential restart of Amtrak service to the Gulf Coast and excellent articles by the Hancock County Historical Society noting how early development of Hancock County was supported by the rail lines. As a youngster during the late 1940’s, I was blessed to actually observe the monster, noisy, smokey steam engines just before they were replaced by diesel power in the “60’s.

The railroads began in the US about 200 years ago using small steam engines developed by English companies mainly to move granite and rock from rock quarries. The era of railroads in the US began in the 1830’s when the steam engine Tom Thumb was put into service traveling 13 miles at the unheard of speed of about 20 miles per hour. By 1837, over 1200 miles of track were laid. By 1869, construction of the Continental Railroad was completed bringing the two coasts together. By 1900, the rails stretched over 190,000 miles reaching into the most remote of areas or our countryside. Rail travel and movement of goods was king until about 1920 when cars, paved highways and a little later, air travel began to replace some of the train business.

It is hard to imagine the railroads’ impact on the early towns and villages spread throughout the land. Prior to the railroads, most people had never traveled more than five or ten miles from home. Horse travel on dirt paths was exceedingly slow and painstaking. For example, travel time by stage-

I thank the citizens of the Waveland community who supported me with their votes on election day, December 6, 2022 for city alderman of Ward 2.

According to the most recent ACS, Waveland has a population of 78.94 percent Caucasian, 14.45 percent African American, and 3.2 percent Native American and Asian. I am fully aware that to be electable, I must have majority and minority support. Sadly, majority of Ward 2 voters will not vote to elect a minority candidate. Ochsner Acquires Diamondhead Urgent Care

SEA COAST ECHO

Ochsner Health announced today that they have acquired Diamondhead Urgent Care, increasing access to convenient, non-emergency care in the Gulf Coast area. Diamondhead Urgent Care will become one of two Ochsner locations that provide urgent care services, along with Ochsner Health Center – Port Bienville.

This facility will provide urgent care services, including after hours and weekend access to healthcare. The existing employees and physicians will continue to provide healthcare at this facility, while additional staff will be added as the patient load increases.

This acquisition represents a sizable, $3 million, investment in the Diamondhead community. “With the acquisition of Diamondhead Urgent Care, Ochsner continues to expand access to convenient quality care in Hancock County and on the Gulf Coast,” said Jeff Edge, Chief Executive Officer, OMC-Hancock & Gulf Coast Clinics. “The addition of urgent care services in Diamondhead and Port Bienville are examples of our pledge to the community to provide high-quality healthcare locally.”

Like other Ochsner locations, through this acquisition, the urgent care facility connects patients to the entire Ochsner Health network through Epic – Ochsner’s integrated electronic medical record system. Ochsner physicians can quickly and securely access any past medical information and share results with other Ochsner medical providers. This reduces the need for repeat testing, saving patients time and money.

flour and oil (fat) and then adding spices, vegetables, and hard-boiled eggs. As a matter of fact, in the old days, any eggs found inside the turtles were added to the soup. Finishing the soup with sherry is de rigueur.

In the last one hundred years turtle soup has gone out of vogue compared to yesteryears. The world’s turtle population has been decimated. Locally, there has been unregulated, over harvesting of the diamond back terrapin. This species of turtle today has been replaced by farm-raised alligator snapping turtles, because in 1978 all marine turtles in the United States were placed on the endangered species list. Furthermore, shrimp trawlers are required to install Turtle Excluder Devices (TED’s) on their seine nets when skimming the Mississippi Sound. The shrimpers complain that these TED’s cause them to lose a significant part of their catch.

In 1920 Thurston died of pneumonia while on a sales trip to Texas. The factory closed soon after his death. The Hurricane of 1947 destroyed the aforementioned canneries on the Bay of St. Louis. Turtle soup was a favorite appetizer one hundred years ago and is still served in restaurants offering Creole cuisine.

The Bay was once a small fishing village with boatyards. That said, these local fishermen were able to supply the canneries of the emerging seafood industry in Hancock County. Today, Mississippi’s maritime economy is called its “Blue Economy.” Indeed, the economy of the six coastal counties represents approximately one third of the state’s Gross Regional Product (GRP).

mission. It is powered by two solid rocket boosters and a core stage with four RS-25 engines.

RS-25 engines for the first four SLS missions are former space shuttle main engines modified to provide additional power. NASA Stennis conducted several series of hot fire tests to help guide modification of the engines and validate the various changes.

In addition, NASA Stennis conducted a historic Green Run test series of the first SLS core stage, concluding with a historic hot fire of the stage’s four RS-25 engines in March 2021, just as during the actual launch. It marked the most powerful propulsion test at NASA Stennis in more than 40 years and set the stage for the Artemis I launch last month.

Even as we celebrate the success of that mission, NASA Stennis is continuing its frontline work. The path to deep space will continue directly through Mississippi as the center tests new RS-25 engines, as well as the Exploration Upper Stage that will provide SLS with even more power and capability.

The nation now is set to return humans, including the first woman and the first person of color, to the Moon and to prepare for journeys to Mars. Both are daunting missions, with the Moon more than 235,000 miles away from Earth and Mars, on average, some 140 million miles.

Yet, with the Dec. 11 splash-down of Orion and the continued contributions of the dedicated NASA Stennis team, I have never felt more optimistic that both are within our reach.

In addition to raising her own 5 girls and 5 boys, Loislyn welcomed countless extended children into her family, providing love, care and occasional discipline to all that needed it. Loislyn was beautiful, inside and out, and an inspiration to all who met her. Family, friends and acquaintances found her gracious, caring, loving, hardworking, and of the highest ethical standards. For decades, she worked tirelessly alongside A.J. as entrepreneurs and business owners: trophy company, pig farm (in case you ever wondered why she collected porcelain pigs), engineering consultancy, risk management company, and even after retirement, she worked at an insurance agency. “Missing you Always”

You never said I'm leaving.
You never said Goodbye.
You were gone before we knew it
And only God knows why.
In life we loved you dearly
In death we love you still.
In our hearts we hold a place
That only you can fill.
It broke our hearts to lose you
But you didn't go alone.
A part of us went with you
The day God took you home.

Until we are together again Casey Ray,
We will always love and miss you.

Finding Faith in Unexpected Places

By REV. C. GERALD RICHARDSON, D. MIN

C. GERALD RICHARDSON, D. MIN.

One of our sons is an Episcopal priest in New Jersey. A part of our Sunday ritual is to watch the service at his church before we head to our own worship.

A few weeks ago, he preached a sermon which held particular resonance for me.

He spoke of finding Christ and faith in surprising places. This is really at the heart of the spiritual journey.

Actually, the work of the spirit is everywhere. We often miss it because we expect it in certain venues or contexts rather than the general population and locations which make up our world.

The sermon from my son reminded me of one that I heard more than 40 years ago by another preacher. His name was Dr. Carlyle Marney. At the time that I heard him preach that sermon he was director of “Interpreter’s House” at Lake Junaluska, North Carolina. The passage that I most remember, and which has stuck in my memory across the years, is as follows:

I tend to go around corners carefully.

I never know when I am going to bump into Jesus, in a ten dollar suit, or on a crutch, or coming ‘break-neck’ on a bicycle.

Marney’s point, and, as I understand it, that of my son, was that the spiritual presence of Jesus is in this world. Yes, one can find him beneath the stained-glass windows on Sunday morning, and many of us do.

However, that spirit is not confined to such places. Love, grace, generosity, hope, and much more are present in the world at large. I found it in the sweet compassion of a young Adventist student nurse in Chattanooga, Tennessee where I was being treated for a painful broken leg.

I saw it in the caring faces of folks at a 1970’s rock festival as sensitive and non-judgmental people brought food, water, and bus tickets to stranded young people who were far from home. It was evident over and over again in the faces of workers in the aftermath of Katrina.

Jesus said, “I was hungry and you gave me food. I was thirsty, and you gave me something to drink. I was a stranger, and you welcomed me. I was naked, and you gave me clothing. I was sick, and you took care of me. I was in prison, and you visited me.” When questioned about it, he replied, “Just as you did it to one of the least of these who are members of my family, you did it to me,” (Matthew 25:35-40)

This is a powerful expression of the mystery of faith. It is not about dogma, creed, or membership in a church. It is about discovering profound grace in the compassion which we offer to others.

Most of us have seen it. When we have, we have found Jesus, even when he was not expected. It can lead us to renewed life.

MEET SABRA.

This shy lady needs a gentle, patient friend to help restore her confidence. A noisy shelter environment is especially worrying for a timid gal like Sabra. Her history is unknown to us. We will never know how she lost most of her right ear, or why she is so reserved in nature, but we do know that she deserves a second chance. She is gentle and sweet, and wants so desperately to form a bond with a kind human. The timid, quiet dogs rarely get noticed at the shelter while the happy, playful, affectionate dogs appeal to potential adopters, and we certainly understand why. But, we remain hopeful that a special someone will be willing to take the time to earn Sabra's trust. All this baby needs is a patient person who prefers a gentle, quiet companion to be their loyal, trusted friend. In the few months that this lovely gal has been with us, she has blossomed, and seeks out affection from our staff and volunteers. While she is still shy when meeting new people, she no longer cowers, expecting the worst. She is now curious and interested in making new friends. Please be Sabra's hero! You may meet her during our visiting hours: Mon, Wed-Fri 10am-3:30pm and Tues 1pm-3:30pm. Or, please call our front desk at 228-466-4516 or 985-285-2244 to schedule an appointment. We believe Sabra to be a German Shepherd mix, and likely 2 years old. She is a beauty, and so deserves a loving home.

Life is Delicious On the Gulf Coast

GUEST COLUMN
BY VIRGINIA AND CHUCK PARROT OF BAY ST. LOUIS

December - the most wonderful time of the year! With visions of gifts to buy for family and friends, sing-a-longs to Christmas music we love, and holiday food we simply cannot do without, who has time? Short of a miracle however, we do somehow find the time to enjoy the preparation and magic of the holidays with our family, communities, holiday events, and parties.

Although we prepare our favorite dishes, pies, cakes, and cookies, the holidays are also a perfect time to enjoy our local restaurants after a long day of shopping. Let's also remember to leave Santa some cookies and milk. Or should we think outside of the box waiting for Santa's arrival? A well-known chef once said, "Santa gets enough cookie! I leave Santa bacon instead!" What a great idea! Who doesn't love bacon, or even butter, sugar, and chocolate? Santa appreciates whatever your family leaves for him on his long journey.

The holidays are celebrated by people of many faiths and cultures. We have a dear Jewish friend in New York City whose father played Santa Claus for the neighborhood children for many decades. Family and friends who live around the country and the world celebrate many traditions during these festive times.

For example, our Jewish families celebrate Hanukkah, the Festival of Lights, which this year is observed from December 18-26 with prayer and lighting of the menorah, playing the dreidel game, and eating latkes and sufganiyot (pronounced soof-gah-nee-yote). Latke is Yiddish for "pancake," typically made with potatoes and fried in oil. In Israel, sufganiyots are round jelly donuts deep fried in oil. For at least a thousand years, the Jewish people enjoy many foods fried in oil at Hanukkah. Also, gelt, the Yiddish word for money is always a Hanukkah favorite which are foil-wrapped chocolate coins.

Getting back to the bacon topic, we have discovered that the best way to properly cook delicious crispy bacon without the splatter is to start with your favorite brand of bacon (ours is Oscar Myers Center Cut) and cook in the oven as follows:

Use a large and shallow cookie pan lined with non-stick Reynolds Wrap curled up on the sides so the grease will not escape. Preheat oven to 400-415 degrees Fahrenheit depending on your oven. Lay strips of bacon flat next to each other on the foil and cook with a timer for 20-22 minutes. (It is best to check the cooking process after 15 minutes, carefully removing the tray and turning over the bacon strips. Then, place back in the oven for the final 5-7 minutes.) When your bacon is finished cooking, place it on double thickness paper towels and gently blot the top of the bacon to remove excess grease with another paper towel. Let stand for a few minutes. Serve your crispy bacon with your favorite breakfast food. Keep in mind bacon goes with anything and everything. As they say, if it's good enough for Santa...

Did someone ask about Christmas cookies? Our mothers and grandmothers before them made sugar cookies in the shapes of stars, gingerbread men, Christmas trees, angels, and snowflakes just to name a few. The best kept secret is that you can make sugar cookies ahead of time, freeze and enjoy them throughout the holidays. This old-fashioned recipe is one that requires a mixer and a rolling pin along with your favorite cookie cut-out shapes.

SUGAR COOKIES

3 3/4 cups all-purpose flour

1 teaspoon baking powder

1/2 teaspoon salt

2 sticks unsalted butter (8 ounces), softened

1 2/3 cups sugar

2 large eggs at room temperature

2 teaspoons vanilla extract

1. In a medium bowl, sift the flour, baking powder and salt. Whisk to combine.

2. Using a mixer, cream the butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Stop the mixer a couple of times and scrape the bowl with a rubber spatula. Add the eggs, one at a time, and beat after each one. Add the vanilla and scrape the bowl then mix together. Add the dry ingredients (flour, baking powder, and salt mixed together) on low and beat until combined.

3. Put out wax paper with sifted flour on a table. Put the dough on the floured wax paper, turn it around to get a light coating of flour all around and then knead gently into a log. Divide the log into 3 even parts. Pat down each section just a bit and cover each of the 3 parts with wax paper. Chill until firm, about 2 hours.

4. Preheat the oven to 350 degrees. Take the dough out of the fridge and get to room temp. On a lightly floured surface, roll each section to slightly more than 1/8 inch with a rolling pin.

5. Use cookie cutter shapes and place them onto a baking sheet. This will be repeated for each of the 3 sections of dough and depends on how big your cookie sheet is. Any scraps left over from cutting out shapes can be combined and rolled out with the rolling pin.

6. At this point, you can sprinkle white, green, red or gold sugar over the cookies or, after baking them, you can ice them. Plain sugar or colored sugar works great or be creative and combine colors!

7. Bake cookies for about 15-20 minutes until the edges begin to turn brown. Take out of the oven, let sit for 5 minutes then transfer to a wire rack.

These cookies freeze well when kept in a tight container in the freezer.

This is a great way to prepare ahead of the holidays when everyone is so busy!

coach to traverse 400 miles took two to four weeks. Rail travel could do the same in 1 day. Rail travel allowed people to change their place of living with relative ease thus facilitating the huge people movement from East to West during the great Westward expansion of the 1800's. Railroads greatly facilitated the increase in religious fervor in the early 1800's know as the Second Great Awakening. Circuit riders traded in their slow horses for the faster rail travel allowing contact with more people in a much shorter time. As an aside, several religious movements emerged during the Second Great Awakening including the Latter Day Saint movement.

Railroads also expanded the market for goods, coal, iron ore and other commodities by making it possible to get far more commodities from farther away and, just as important, ON TIME. Business thrived and expanded as no longer did it take months to get goods from just a few miles away. To understand the enormous effect of the expansion of the railroads, at the time of the Civil War, the US was about 15th in the world in industrial production of all types. By 1900, the US was number one in the world in industrial production, a position it has held ever since.

Early on, it became apparent that something about train scheduling had to be done.

With every little town and village setting their own time, it was almost impossible to schedule trains. Too many trains found themselves going opposite directions on a single track. The resulting crash tended to make management somewhat grumpy to say nothing about the toll on engineers, conductors, and passengers. In the Spring of 1883, railroad officials met in a meeting called The General Railroad Time Convention. They agreed to the development of five time zones - Pacific, Mountain, Central, Eastern and Provincial Standard. On Sunday, November 18, 1883, these time zones took effect. Because of their obvious advantages, the following year, a time convention in Paris led to adoption of the time zones used worldwide today-----all due to railroads.

Another weakness in early railroads was the "link and pin" connections between rail cars. During coupling, a rail worker had to stand between the multi ton cars as they came together and guide the link into the coupler pocket and insert a pin. This procedure was exceptionally dangerous and many workers lost fingers or entire hands. (This led to a somewhat gruesome joke that a large numbers of rail workers were named "lefty".) This problem was solved by adopting the "Janny" or knuckle coupler used today. The coupler was developed by Eli Janny, a former Confederate Army Officer who patented the devise in 1883. Its use was mandated by Congress in 1893. The results were amazing as this coupler reduced railroad accidents involving couplers from 38% to almost nothing.

Still another problem was evidenced by the limitation of train length to only 10 to 15 cars. Even though larger engines were available to pull much larger trains, the problem was not starting trains.... but stopping them! To stop a train, the brakemen had to climb to the top of each car and turn a handle which applied the railcar's brakes. He then had to climb or jump to the next car and repeat the operation. The slow process led to very long stopping distances to say nothing of the dangers of moving around on a wobbling rail car top in wet and/or icy cold weather. The system was dangerous and imprecise. A train might stop too soon or too late and sometimes didn't stop before running into another train or anything else on the tracks. Needless to say, many rail workers did not survive this process. Around 1870, George Westinghouse developed an air brake where by breaks on each car could be activated by a single control located next to the engineer. This immediately led to safer conditions. Even more, immediately, larger engines began pulling trains of 50, 75 and even 100 cars thus improving rail efficiency significantly. These brakes are still used worldwide today not only on railroads but trucks, busses and even amusement parks.

Still another legacy of railroads is the "jargon" that we use today. A local example is "Dummyline" Road in central Hancock county. A "dummyline" is 1800's railroad lingo for a "temporary rail line." These were used early in Southern Mississippi history to harvest pine and other trees for sale. After use, the dummylines were usually removed.

Other examples evolved in the small, temporary towns that followed construction of the Transcontinental Railway. A few examples include:

"The Other Side of the Tracks" - Used to distinguish the good "family" side of the tracks from the gambling, drinking and prostitution that took place (usually by design) on the far side of the tracks. Now usually means a less desirable area or location.

"Red Light District" - In order for the supervisors to find workers when needed, the workers were required to place their red signal lanterns on the door of any lady of the night they might be visiting. Thus, these areas were lit by red lightsand the name a stuck to this day.

Still other examples include:

"Letting Off Steam" - Reducing the steam pressure in a steam locomotive was a common action. Today, it often denotes a "cooling off period" after a confrontation.

"Highball" - Some early trackside signals used a ball. When the ball was highest, the train was cleared to go fast. Thus, going fast.

"End of the Line" - Termination of a rail line. Now denotes termination of events or life or other event coming to an end.

"Side Track" - Railroad for moving a train to the side and off the main line. Now often means any movement away from a specific goal or agenda.

"Blowing Smoke" - Railroad for exhausting steam engine smoke or steam to clear the water from the cylinders or boiler. Used today to denote scamming or otherwise not being particularly truthful or honest.

"Make the grade" - rail talk for a train reaching the top of a long upward incline. Today - Usually denotes success in some endeavor.

Still another railroad legacy were "Road Maps" which were common before today's GPS Trackers. Prior to the railroads, people in small towns and villages did not have accurate maps or, in many cases, none at all. The railroads introduced maps by necessity so potential rail customers could plan their travels or goods movements. The villagers quickly learned to obtain the rail maps for their own use. For the first time, many people were able to understand where they were and the location of towns and villages around them. With the advent of automobile travel in the 1920's, the railroad map concept evolved into statewide folding maps of the road system for automobiles and trucks.

The evolution of US railroads was certainly a tumultuous endeavor. But to say the least, the early railroads and the sturdy men who worked on them gave us one of the most colorful events in US history.

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Bay tops SSC, Lady Hawks remain undefeated

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

Basketball and soccer is cruising into the holiday break. While the students are set to get out of school on Friday, there will still be some action taking place over the holiday break.

Basketball
Bay High Tigers

The Bay High Tigers picked up a 45-29 victory over cross town rival Saint Stanislaus last week.

The game was back and forth much of the first half. The score was tied 11-11 at the end of the first period before Bay High took a 24-15 lead at intermission.

The Rocks went on a 7-1 run to start the third period with five points coming from Spencer Cornell. The Tigers closed the period with a 5-2 run with all points coming from Avan Wilson as Bay High maintained a 31-24 lead heading into the final period of play.

The Tigers made it to the foul line in the fourth period and were solid down the stretch to make the final score.

Bay High head coach Kelton Thompson commented, "A lot of credit goes to Saint Stanislaus. They played just like you would expect a Daniel Grieves team to play. They gave us problems in our offensive sets but we were able to get some stops and get some transition baskets that helped us stretch the distance some. We need to continue working hard and winning ugly sometimes is part of that process where you get better."

Bay High was led by Wilson with 19 points followed by Da'jontae Lee with 11 and Jaden Clark had 10 points.

The Lady Tigers upended OLA 48-4.

Hancock Hawks

The Hancock Lady Hawks (13-0, 1-0) remained undefeated with two wins last week over Biloxi 35-30 and PRC 51-16.

In the game against

Biloxi, Hancock held a slim 13-12 lead at half-time before Biloxi took a 26-23 lead into the fourth period. Anslee James led Hancock with 14 points followed by Brooklyn Cuevas with 10 and Jenna Garriga had 6 points.

Hancock Lady Hawks head coach Jamie Sisco stated, "It was a typical Hancock/Biloxi game. Over the last six years, none of our games have been decided by more than 5 points. We knew they would be prepared for us. It came down to which team made more basketball plays. I was very proud of our toughness tonight against a good Biloxi squad."

The Hawks (9-7, 0-1) dropped their game with Biloxi 80-52. Biloxi jumped out to a 27-10 lead in the first period and did not look back.

The Hawks were led by Brandon Arcement with 9 points while Jackson Corey and Jaxson Knight each had 8 points.

Hancock head coach Colin Goley stated, "Biloxi has a history of starting hot. They made some tough plays early in the game. We compounded that by making mistakes early in the game. We played hard throughout the game and that is all I can ask."

Against PRC, the Hawks were led by Jackson Corey with 17 points followed by Jaxson Knight with 14 and Jude Ulrich with 11.

Saint Stanislaus/Our Lady Academy

The Rocks beat Poplarville last week 48-11 behind Bruno Dall's 16 points and 12 rebounds.

On Thursday, the Rocks dropped their game with Bay High 45-29. SSC head coach Daniel Grieves stated, "We played well until there was about 6 minutes left to play in the game. We are still young in our basketball life and learning how to win. We are taking the lessons we learn in each game and apply that differently each time out. We are playing hard everytime we get on the court so the effort is there."

Cornell led the Rocks against Bay High with 16 points and 12 rebounds while Heith Shin had 8 points.

On Friday, SSC traveled to Resurrection where they picked up a win against the Crusaders. Cornell paced SSC with 14 points and 12 boards.

OLA dropped their game with Picayune 46-24.

Soccer

Bay High Tigers

The Tigers dropped a decision with Pass Christian 3-2 in boys action and the Lady Tigers fell 1-0 to the Lady Pirates.

Hancock Hawks

The Lady Hawks dropped both their games last week falling to Biloxi 6-0 and St. Patrick 4-0. The Hawks also fell to Biloxi 7-0 and St. Patrick 2-0.

Saint Stanislaus/Our Lady Academy

Saint Stanislaus beat Stone 3-1, beat Resurrection 7-0, and lost to Mandeville 1-0.

OLA blanked Resurrection 9-0.

Shore Thing: A Christmas Miracle

Shore Thing Fishing Report

By Cpt. Sonny
Schindler

Very seldom do I get to fish for fun these days. Between regular charters, family and maintenance, I seldom get to out and fish on my own.

Every once in a while, things allow for a little fun trip. I was chatting on the phone with Capt Alex in early December. He was on his way down from his farm in North Mississippi. The weather was supposed to be very nice, and he was on a mission. Snapper season was still open, and he wanted to scout some areas. He hadn't fished offshore in weeks, and conditions were drastically different than when he last fished. The water temps were about 20 degrees different than they were on his last trip.

As luck would have it, my wife and daughter were out of town, my puppy dogs were staying at my parents, and I had a day open on my calendar. We just needed a few adventurous souls to go poke around his spots, to see if his fish were where he thought they might be.

I took a shot in the dark and called my buddy Nathan. He typically spends the entire hunting season at his camp near Jackson, MS. He and son Deacon were in town with Cousins Randolph and Carter for a Birthday Party. I was beginning to believe this was actually gonna happen.

Alex and I haven’t fished together in years, and haven’t offshore fished together since 2009.

Alex told us it was gonna be all or nothing. He knew where the snap-pers should be, but need-ed to check a few areas to get a better read on the fish. Evidently his gut pointed us in the right direction. When we ar-rived on the structures he was wanting to scout, the bottom machine looked like the 4th of July. He in and immediately hooked up. I honestly cannot remember the last time I personally got to fight that many big fish.

It was a fun experience, but man it was a work out. We got all we need-ed in no time. Since we were fishing in 50-60 feet of water, the snap-pers we didn’t keep were unharmed from any barotrauma. I was already planning the menu for when my family comes into town in at the end of the month. As if our play day couldn’t get any better, the seas were calm all day long!

We were back at the dock in no time. We cleaned our fish and said our goodbyes. I replayed all the amazing memo-ries over and over in my head on my drive home. Being able to have a day off, snapper fishing with Alex, getting to hang out with Nathan during hunt-ing season, and having perfect weather. It was almost something like a Christmas Miracle...
